Not illustrated. 1856 Excerpt: .What we may call outposts of attack on women s wants have been established by Asbstock and Ahrab in branches in the great cities of Manchester, Liverpool, Edinburgh, Birmingham, Plymouth, and Dublin; besides a muslin manufactory at Glasgow, and a lace factory at Nottingham. In New York and Calcutta, independent colonies--consuming nothing but the produce of the Cheapside empire--have been established; and, in the great Australian cities, like plantations have been founded. As for home consumption, Great Britain is mapped out into districts, which are periodically traversed by commercial ambassadors, travelling by road and rail. In the hilly territories of the north you may sometimes meet a neat, capacious, darkgreen fourgon, driven four-in-hand. It does not contain the bed or battcrie de cuisine of a foreign prince, nor any of the hounds or racehorses of a sporting peer: it is a moving warehouse of our friends...
