Not illustrated. 1897 Excerpt: .before the public in the pages of the Ulster Journal of Arcluzology, April, 1895. It was solely with the object of assisting him in the researches he then undertook that this translation was prepared, and there was no intention at the time of any future publication of it. It was a matter of importance to facilitate the process of identification as regards the various localities referred to, as well as to avoid the danger of misinterpreting the writer s meaning when dealing with obscure passages; conditions requiring the translation to be as literal as possible, and leaving the translator with but little freedom in treating a language that at best, does not lend itself easily to reproduction in the English idiom. These facts are mentioned to account for the style in which it has been prepared, as it has no pretensions to merit, except in so far as care has been taken to follow closely the wording of the original Spanish. As Mr. Allingham is now about to publish a new edition of his Spanish Armada in Ulster and Connacht, it has been considered desirable that this translation should be added to it in extenso for the convenience of reference. I have, therefore, gone carefully over it again, comparing it with the Spanish text, and have made some slight alterations of an occasional word or phrase in it to make the matter more explicit. This will explain why in some of Mr. Allingham s quotations from...
